

New Infrastructure
and Three Little Questions for Dr.
Minsoo Lee

Wang Lei

New Infrastructure

Information infrastructure

mainly refers to infrastructure based on a new generation of information technology, such as 5G, Internet of Things, Blockchain, etc.

Converged infrastructure mainly refers to the in-depth application of Internet, big data, artificial intelligence and other technologies to support the transformation and upgrading of traditional infrastructure.

Innovative infrastructure mainly refers to the infrastructure that can support scientific research, technology and product development.

Question 1

About New Infrastructure:

What is the significance of developing new infrastructure for China's high-quality development?

Question 2

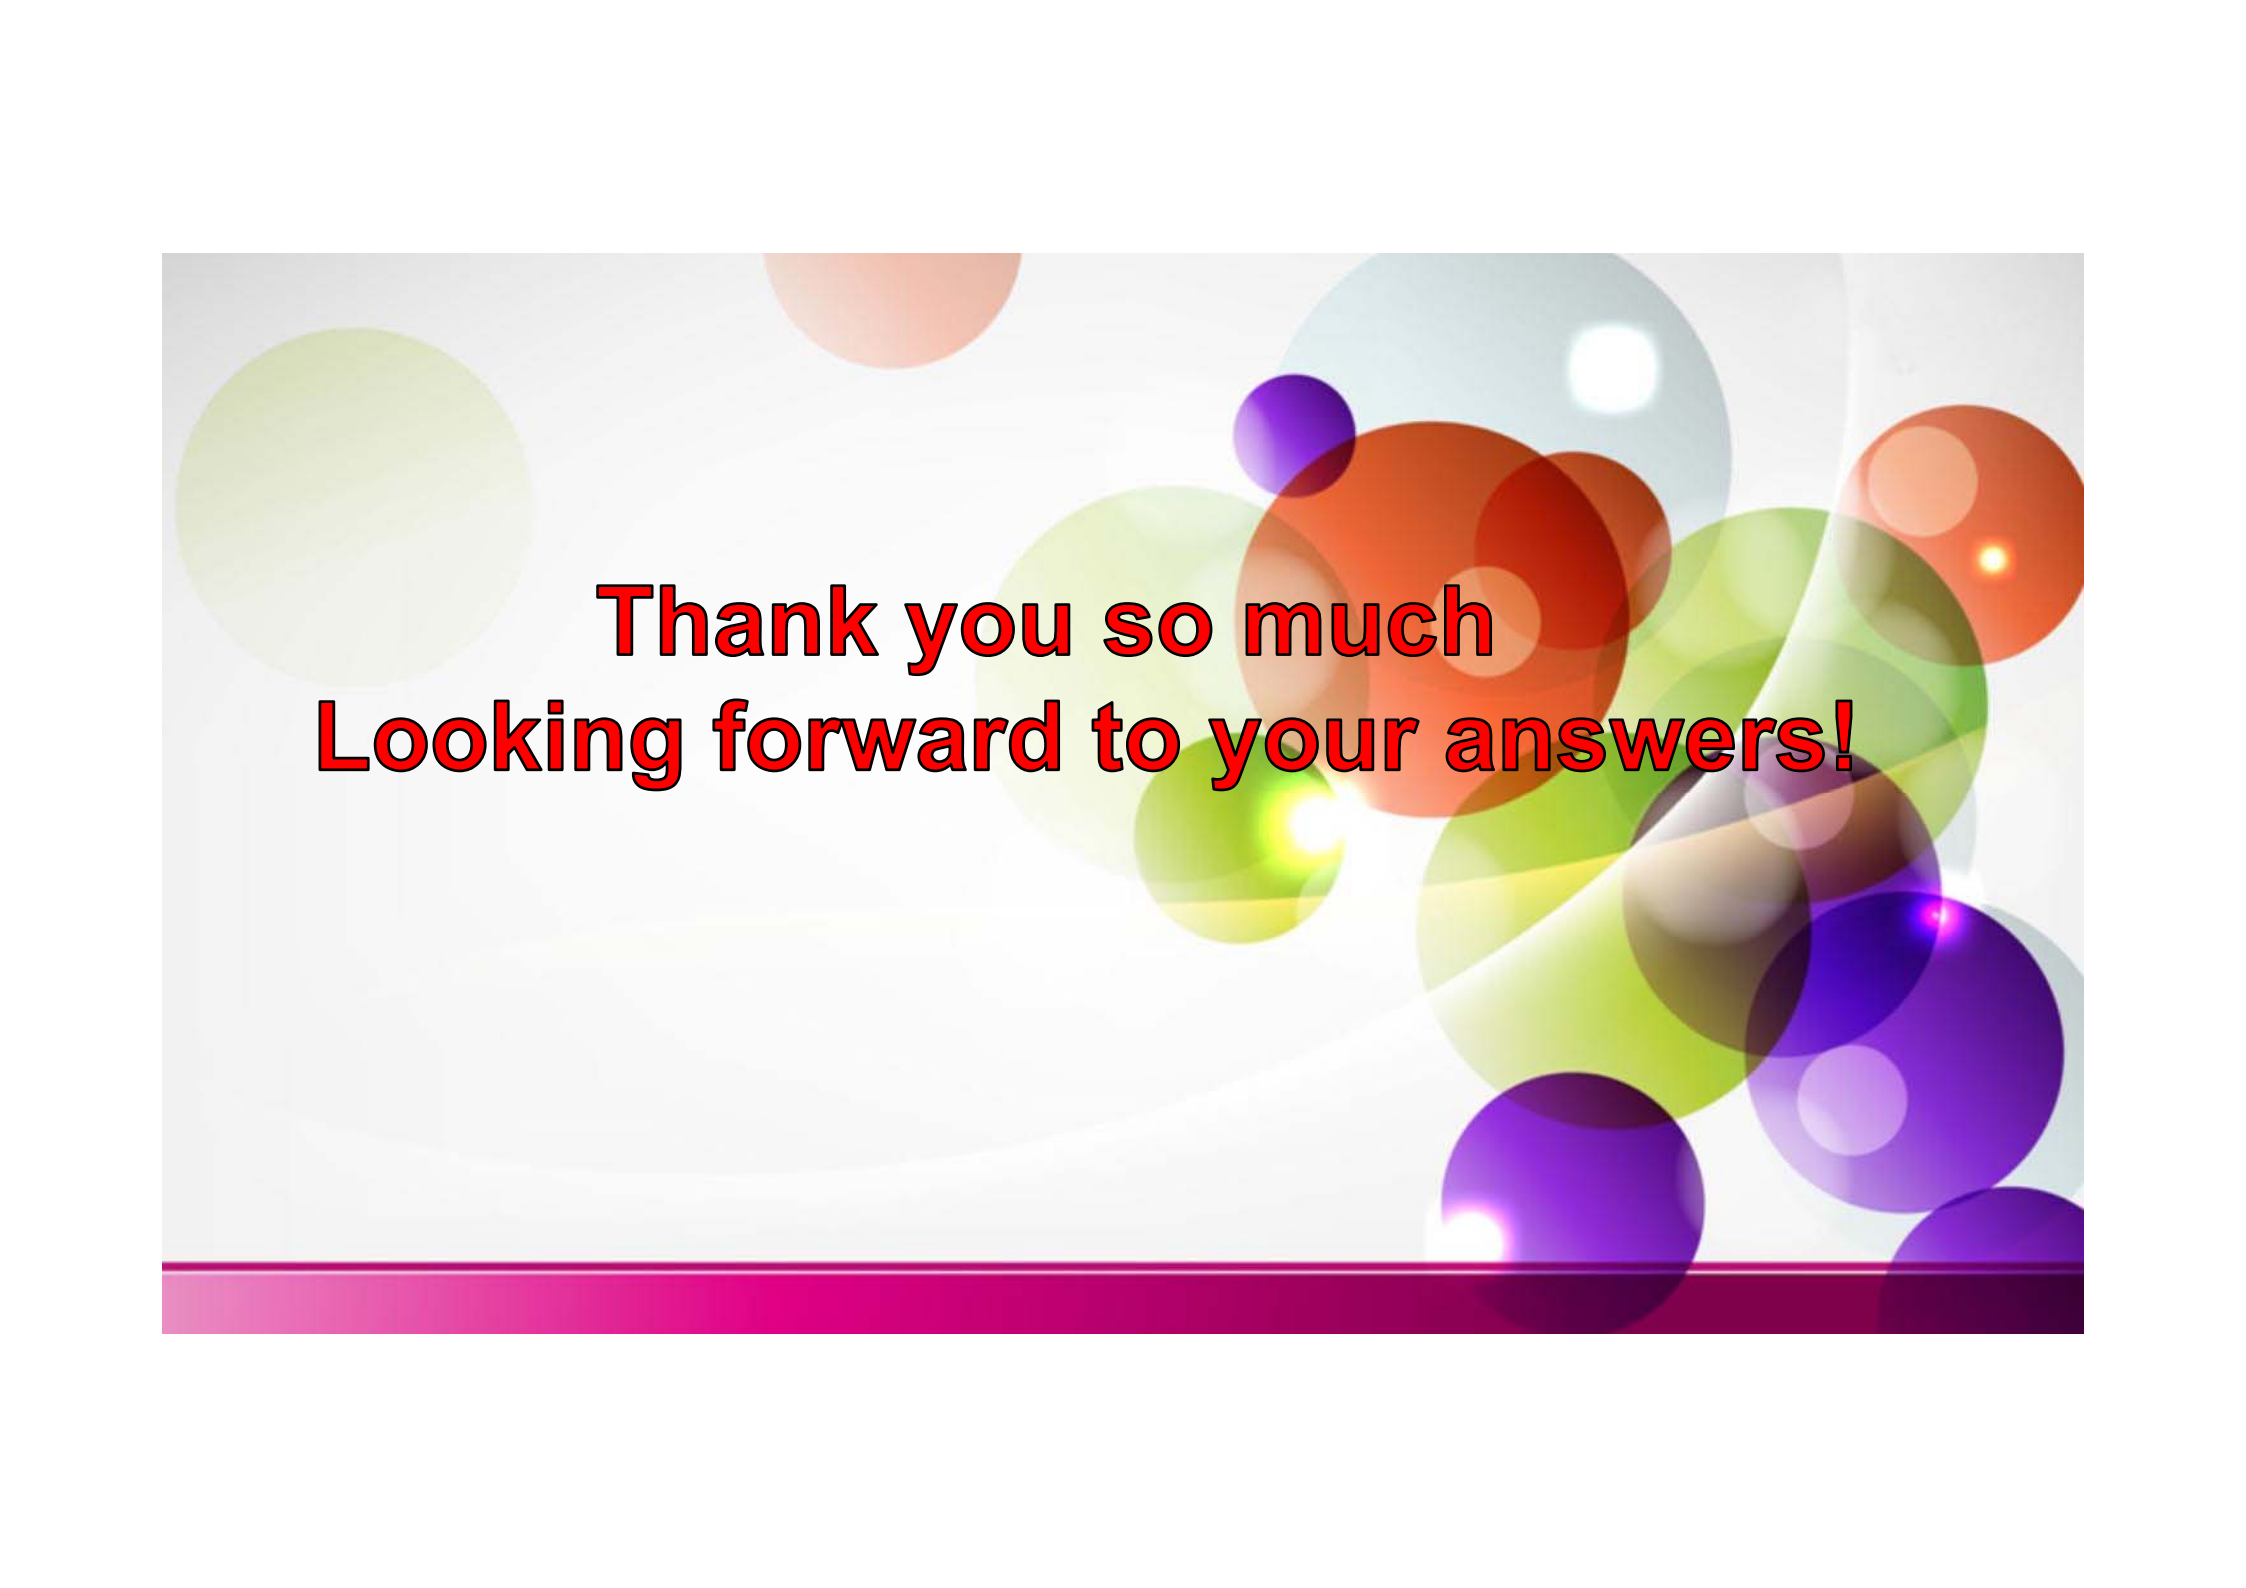

About inclusiveness :

From your point of view, what measures should be taken to improve the performance of inclusiveness in China?

Question 3

About recovery for CAREC:

In recovery stage, what's the role of Public-Private-Partnership (PPP) in high-quality development of CAREC economies ?

Thank you so much
Looking forward to your answers!